C. S. Jarrett

Chester S. Jarrett, 63, longtime resident of the Stratford area, died at Dakota Midland Hospital in Aberdeen Oct. 13.

Services were held at the Stratford Presbyterian Church at 10:00 a.m. Saturday, Oct. 16, with the Rev. Robert Carey officiating. Burial was in Sunset Memorial Gardens.

Soloist was Dave Suelz who sang "How Great Thou Art" and "The Old Rugged Cross." Organist was Ann Erdmann.

Pallbearers, all nephews, were Kenneth Jark, Duane Jark and Robert Hanson, all of Stratford; Dale Kahla, Conde; Glen Albright, Bloomington, Minn.; and Maynard Trudy, Brentford.

Ushers were Thurlo Jark, Lloyd Jark, Ronald Breitag and Lonnie Gerharter.

Mr. Jarrett was born July 13, 1908, at Conde. There he grew to young manhood and married Bernice Kahla of Crandall on Aug. 23, 1930, at Jamestown, N.D. The couple farmed near Conde until 1937 when they moved to Glendale, Calif. He worked there as a heavy duty construction machine mechanic until 1948 when they returned to South Dakota, and they farmed near Stratford. In 1963 he retired and they had made their home in Stratford since that time.

Survivors include his widow; three sons, Eugene of Zumbro Falls, Minn.; Dale, Goldsboro, N.C.; and Robert of Stratford; six grandchildren; two brothers, Robert B. of Alfred, N.D., and Lafe of Redding, Calif.; and two sisters, Mrs. William (Bernice) Jark, Aberdeen, and Mrs. Glen (Neva) Woshnak, Reno, Nev.
